It is effective to use robots together with machine tools, but there are problems such as robot teaching and floor space. Our systems that eliminate robot programing and save space by using built-in robots is introduced.